

JAROSLAV ČEVORA

Jaroslav Cevora makes work about the energy interstices of the physical world examined up close. He is fascinated by clusters of lines and shapes in the real world; wiring, stacks of industrial debris, the interweavings seen close up of a textile or a basket. Particularly interesting is when these lines take lives of their own, move and wriggle in contained chaos. He channels chaos theories through his hand, endowing them with a very active and human passion. Completely self-taught he explores the expressionistic possibilities of abstraction with a compulsive and obsessive eye toward multiplicities. His is an active, unceasing midnight mind that travels to intangible places through the marks he makes.
